COMMUNITY GROUPS SHORTLISTED FOR ENTERPRISE AWARDS

Report by Henry James

A TRIO of community organisations from Skelmersdale have been shortlisted in the SELNET (Social Enterprise Lancashire Network) Enterprise in Society Awards 2018.

Representatives from Artz for All C.I.C., The Birchwood Centre, and The Sewing Rooms will attend an awards dinner at the De Vere Hotel, Blackpool on Friday, May 4 when the winners will be announced.

The awards honour companies working for social good from across the county - ncluding Blackpool, Skelmersdale, Blackburn and central Lancashire.

Their efforts to benefit the community include helping vulnerable people, improving the local environment, projects that help ex-offenders, women in society and the arts.

Now a panel of judges have the painstaking task of choosing a winner in each category, including deciding on Lancashire's Social Enterprise of the Year and its Social Enterprise Champion.

The awards are different from other similar business accolades as they also reward the army of volunteers who are the lifeblood of the third sector.

Artz for All C.I.C., which promotes arts for young people, is shortlisted in the Small Social Enterprise of the Year category, the Enabling Ability Award and also the Most Effective Collaboration section.

The Birchwood Centre, which provide accommodation for young people aged 16 to 25 who are homeless, vulnerable and in need of support, is nominated for the Enabling Ability Award and the Most Effective Collaboration. Callum Lea, Alex Kent and Ian Wheelan from the centre are also up for Volunteer of the Year.

And the Sewing Rooms, which aims to improve the health and wellbeing of the communities they work with, is shortlisted in the Excellence in Training or Mentoring category, while director, Paula Gamester is also shortlisted for Social Enterprise Champion 2018.

Paula Gamester (centre right) and volunteers working on the Sewing Rooms banner. Now the group is in the running for an enterprise award.

SELNET chief executive, Liz Tapner, said: "The awards are the highlight of our year and it's a great achievement for all those who have been shortlisted to be recognised for their work."

Paula Gamester commented: "It is great to see so many Skelmersdale social businesses shorlisted in the Enterprise in Society awards."

Meanwhile, The Sewing Rooms have created a banner at Skelmersdale library in celebration of the 100-year anniversary of women winning the right to vote,

Women and girls from the town joined together in the project last Saturday (April 14).

The banner will be part of a 100-strong banner procession to mark the milestone in London on June 10.

Local residents invited to contribute their own material for Lathom heritage archive project

NORTH West Heritage is inviting residents of West Lancs who have material related to the history and heritage of Lathom to have it digitally recorded for an online archive.

Workshops and training sessions on how to catalogue and digitally record material for the Lathom Digital Project will take place on Saturdays April 21 and 28 from 10am to 4pm at the Scout Hut in Hall Lane, Lathom.

Lathom Park Trust is also taking part in the project which is the initiative of Paul Sherman site director with North West Heritage, an archaeology, conservation and research group based in Bursocugh.

Available

The plan is to digitally copy a wide variety of items linked to Lathom and then create a digital archive, which will be hosted by The National Archives server.

None of the items copied will be kept, they can be retained by their owners. The digital archive will then be made freely available online for research.

North West Heritage is providing the training and technical equipment for this stage of the project.

Anyone who would like to go along on either day to learn more about the plan or to offer any Lathom-related historical item for inclusion in the digital archive would be welcome.

To follow the progress of the project, visit the Lathom Park Trust's Facebook page.

Midstream honoured by High Sheriff for services to the community

SKELMERSDALE social enterprise Midstream (West Lancs) has received the Lancashire High Sheriff's Award 2018 in recognition of its "great and valuable services to the community".

Midstream has earned the prestigious award for its ongoing commitment to provide work activity, training and day care for people with learning disabilities and other special needs.

Commenting on the organisation's work, outgoing High Sheriff of Lancashire, Robert Webb, wrote: "Anita and her team have been developing the facilities at Midstream for quite some time now.

"It doesn't take long to realise what a wonderful job they are doing and how very much they are appreciated by those involved."

Midstream's facilities include horticulture, arts & crafts, catering and hair and beauty departments, along with an open-plan office and reception. There is also a garden centre and café which are open to the public.

In addition the contract gardening team are busy all year round carrying out garden maintenance work in the community, while everyone at the centre is given the opportunity to work towards nationally-recognised qualifications no matter which area they choose to work in.

Chief executive, Anita Cooke said: "We are thrilled to have our hard work recognised with this award."

Trust says private firm will not run hospital car parks

Report by Kenny Parker

SOUTHPORT and Ormskirk Hospitals NHS Trust has stated that its car parks will NOT be managed by a private company even after the technology used to control them has gone out to tender.

Trust bosses have insisted that the car parks at both the Southport and Ormskirk sites will continue to be managed by the hospitals.

The statement comes after fears were raised that a private company was being sought to take over the overall management of them.

A member of staff, who did not want to be named, said he believed that private car park management companies make a significant amount of their profits from issuing penalties, and that it would be in their interests to fine staff and patients.

He was also concerned that present hospital car park staff would lose their jobs.

Referring to how West Lancs MP, Rosie Cooper intervened when the hospital car parks were last controlled by a private company, because of the number of complaints about fines being issued, the staff member feared the trust was taking a step backwards and going against Government and public opinion on the matter.

Outdated

However, hospital chiefs insist that they are only looking for a company to replace the existing technology used to control the car parks which, it says, is outdated and in need of repair.

A spokesperson for the trust said: "The trust is looking for a new system to control parking and take payments for it.

"This is definitely needed because the current system is not fit for purpose, it is really old and is often broken.

"The new system will also introduce the benefit of allowing drivers to pay by card, so it should be a better experience over all."

And director of finance, Steve Shanahan, added: "The trust is asking contractors to propose a technical solution to improve the parking control and payment system at Southport and Ormskirk hospitals.

"The car parks will remain the property of the trust and operated by trust staff whatever the outcome of this exercise.

"The trust will also retain control of setting fees for parking and there are no planned redundancies."

The tendering process is expected to be completed by early summer with a new system in place later in the year.

Neighbours kick up a stink over 'health hazard' sheds

Report by Henry James

WEST Lancs Council has come under fire for the poor state of a block of communal sheds in Skemersdale.

And one resident has labelled the sheds in Whitburn a "health hazard."

Joan Britton, who has been a leaseholder since 2006, said she has been calling the council constantly for a number of weeks about the sheds but claims nothing has been done.

She said: "The waste in the sheds is a health hazard and some of the items in them could fall on someone but no one has come out to clear the mess.

"In the sheds are all sorts of items, such as glass shower screens and storage heaters, and it looks like some of it has been there for years. There could be rodents in there too.

"When summer comes the sheds stink.

"They are directly behind my home and while three of them are cared for, three of them are full of rubbish

"Some are not locked and people fly-tip in them and they are used as a dumping ground.

"When my grandchildren visit I don't like them playing by them as they could be potentially dangerous.

One of storage units at Whitburn, Skelmersdale.

"I have been asking the council to do something about the sheds for a long time. "For about the last four to six weeks I have been ringing them constantly.

"The sheds need emptying and proper locks put on them."

West Lancashire Borough Council has been contacted for comment.

Caterers strike up partnership to boost online presence

A SKELMERSDALE-based contract catering services provider to schools and businesses across the north of England and Wales has launched a partnership aimed at boosting its online operation.

Bosses at Mellors Catering in Prescott Road, Pimbo believe the deal with online procurement software company, Procure Wizard, will help improve its services.

Mellors' base in Skelmersdale

Tony Trainor, chief operating officer at Mellors, said: "We are delighted to engage with Procure Wizard. This is an important step forward for our growing estate as we look to enhance the service we provide to our customers and clients by underpinning the operation with a more sophisticated and efficient way to buy goods from our suppliers.

"The online shopping experience is a growing activity with reports of British shoppers already spending almost £1 in every £5 of their shopping via the internet. It is therefore apt that we capitalise on this by allowing our catering teams to purchase all of their food, drink and consumables online.

"Purchasing and stock control have historically been processed manually, but with a growing estate and a desire to ensure our 200-plus catering managers have the most efficient processes available to them, Procure Wizard will provide greater efficiency, better control and clearer visibility of our procurement process."

Primary pupils triumph in county council book awards

PUPILS at St Thomas the Martyr CE Primary School in Up Holland took part in the Fantastic Book Awards (FBA) competition organised by Lancashire County Council and emerged as winners.

The school in Highgate Road won the FBA 'Fake Cake' contest and were rewarded with a book hamper.

Headteacher, Mr Roscoe, said: "I am extremely proud of all the hard work the children and literacy co-ordinator Miss Pugh have demonstrated to win this great prize."

And the the school has recently signed up to the Lancashire schools' 'We Are Reading' initiative which will continue to enhance and promote reading across the whole school.

New bins system will provide better value for money, says council

Report by Henry James

WEST Lancs Council chiefs have defended the decision to introduce brown bins for garden waste to enable green bins to be used for cardboard and paper.

The scheme has stirred up controversy with some residents calling it a waste of money and others expressing concerns about the proliferation of bins on the streets constituting a safety hazard.

However the authority says the new arrangements are "much better value for council taxpayers."

A council spokesman said: "Some people have asked would it not make more sense just to keep the green bin for garden waste and use the new brown bin for the collection of cardboard and paper.

"This would be the simplest approach but also the most expensive option. Not all residents signed up to the chargeable garden waste scheme launched last year and therefore many green bins remain unused.

"These would be better put to use to collect cardboard and paper and a new brown bin introduced only to those residents that sign up to the garden waste scheme.

"If the brown bin was to be used to collect cardboard and paper the council would have to provide these to more than 48,000 properties. Just under half of homes (22,000) signed up to the garden waste collection services in 2017/18. But almost every resident has a green bin from when the garden waste collection service was free, even if they are not currently signed up to the service.

The council has defended the decision to use the green bin (above) for cardboard and paper waste and introduce brown bins for garden waste, despite criticism

"Therefore it is much better value for money for the council - and the council taxpayer - to use green bins already at properties for recycling paper and cardboard and brown bins be introduced only to homes using the garden waste collection service.

"Residents who are not currently signed up for the Garden Waste Collection Services and don't have a green bin will receive one for cardboard and paper recycling, free of charge if they request one before June 4. After that they will have to pay £25.

"The changes to the bins will take effect on June 4 and a leaflet will be distributed to every household to explain the changes in more detail."

Concerns had also been raised about possible health risks in the use of green bins formerly used for garden waste to collect paper and cardboard.

The council spokesman added: "Some people have asked about the risk of cross contamination. The council would encourage people to wash the green bins out if at all possible, but this is not essential as the risk of cross contamination is low and would not create any significant problems in terms of processing this material. Any remnants of garden waste in the bins are likely to disappear quite quickly."

'Welcomed'

Regarding the number of bins on the streets, the spokesman said: "It is envisaged that most households will have four bins, the council will remove any extra green bins from residents' properties when the brown bins are delivered. If residents want to purchase extra bins for garden waste this is entirely up to them."

The council added that some residents had welcomed the idea of having a bin for cardboard and paper recycling to replace the blue bag, providing more capacity to store these items and saving them trips to a recycling centre. It would also stop waste paper blowing around the streets and increasing costs when street cleansing teams were deployed to clear it up.

And the spokesman concluded; "The council would like to remind all residents to make sure that they have the correct bins to recycle their waste. For more information visit www.westlancs.gov.uk."

Archery ace Jack's on target to retain trophy in season opener

SKELMERSDALE archer Jack Grogan retained the Gents Recurve Trophy at Lancashire's first senior archery tournament of the 2018 outdoor season.

Jack competed in the event last Sunday (April 15) at the home grounds of Asheton Bowmen, Manchester.

The competition was an Albion round which consists of shooting a total of three dozen arrows at each distance of 80, 60 and 50 yards, in groups of six arrows at a time.

Asheton's ground is noted for being one of the most challenging fields to shoot on because of strong variable winds - even on a reasonably mild day - and archers prepared for rain as was forecast.

Fortunately, the forecast heavy rain never materialised, and apart from a 10-minute shower the day remained dry.

Grogan started strongly and was placed third but as the tournament progressed he shot even stronger and was placed at the top of the leaderboard.

He soon built an unassailable lead that sealed his win and was presented with the trophy once again by John Stubbs MBE, winner of countless medals as a paraplegic archer in the Olympics and world championships

MP challenges DVLA over reports of 'illegal' car parking on highway

Report by Henry James

ROSIE Cooper has challenged the Driver and Vehicle Licensing Agency about reports of alleged "persistent law breaking" with illegal car parking on the highway and causing obstruction and nuisance in Old Skelmersdale.

The West Lancs MP raised the issue with the then chief executive, Oliver Morley last year and spoke with him again in March.

Mr Morley has since left DVLA, but Ms Cooper is continuing to pursue the matter with interim chief executive, Julie Lennard.

Residents had contacted the MP before Christmas about what they believed to be a business operating out of a private residence carrying out vehicle repairs and also a number of illegally parked cars some with no MOT, tax or insurance and some with Statutory Off Road Notices (SORN).

They said they had repeatedly reported the problem to the DVLA but no action had been taken.

Following Ms Cooper's intervention, the DVLA carried out clamping and enforcement action against three vehicles on March 8 and 12, but she says this has not resolved the situation as the vehicles in question remain unmoved.

Concerns

The MP said: "Alongside DVLA's lack of action, the police and the council appear to be helpless in taking action against this activity which is causing noise, nuisance to neighbours and occasionally blocking residents in.

"Residents are coming to me to report some very valid concerns over potential illegal activity and nuisance yet no agency is seemingly willing or able to take the necessary action to resolve the difficulties.

"Residents are reporting being blocked in at times, having restricted access to parking and having to deal with unsightly vehicle abandonments.

"These agencies have the enforcement powers to charge the owners and remove vehicles where appropriate, but simply aren't exercising their powers.

"Local residents are paying their taxes as well as council tax which funds these agencies but are being ignored and fobbed off.

"The situation is getting ridiculous and I will be pursuing this matter with the Secretary of State to push for further action to be taken. Letting such activity continue unchallenged sets a bad precedent for others to follow suit across West Lancashire."

The DVLA has been contacted for comment.

Ormskirk Road, Up Holland

Planning permission bid for dog grooming business in residential area

A PLANNING application has been submitted to West Lancs Council to open a dog grooming business at Ormskirk Road, Up Holland.

The proposal is for the change of use of the building from residential to a mixed use of a residential and dog grooming business.

CW Planning Solutions Ltd. has written a planning statement for the application.

They believe the issue with the application comes down to "whether the proposed low-key use of the premises results in a 'detrimental impact' on the residential amenity of the occupiers of surrounding dwellings and would be out of character with the established residential nature of the area by virtue of increased levels of noise and disturbance as a result of customers visiting the property."

The site is seen to have good parking provision and is "well served" by public transport.

It is thought that there is "unlikely" to be more than one or two visitors at anyone time.

It is not thought that the number of visitors each day will be significant.

CW Planning Solutions write in the planning statement: "It is our view that there is no objective evidence to support a refusal on those grounds and that by offering limitations on working practices any 'perceived' concerns the Local Planning Authority has can be overcome."

The applicant is willing to accept restrictions on hours of operation and to keep a log for inspection. The client is willing to have any permission restricted to her only and that she is not allowed to employ anyone at the premises.

CW Planning Solutions write in conclusion: "The low key business that can be suitably conditioned will not cause any loss of residential amenity to neighbouring residents and thus complies with national and local planning policies, which states that it should not cause significant harm."

House fire suspected arson

FIREFIGHTERS are treating a blaze which started in an unoccupied house in Birkrig, Digmoor as arson.

Two fire engines and crews from Skelmersdale were called to the incident at the terraced house at just after 2.30pm on Wednesday, April 11.

Firefighters equipped with breathing apparatus used a hose reel jet to extinguish the fire and a portable fan unit to extract the smoke. No-one was injured.

A spokesman for Lancashire Fire and Rescue Service said: "The fire is believed to have been started deliberately. The police have been notified of the suspected arson."

Veterans' association appeal for support from disabled organisations

CHAIRMAN of the Skelmersdale Veterans' Association, Alan Lewis, is appealing for organisations such as the Blind Veterans UK to offer support to the group's members.

Mr Lewis made the appeal following a successful Dementia Friends session staged by West Lancashire's Dementia Friends champion, Joe Sherville with the veterans at the Skelmersdale Buffs Communities club.

He said: "Any support would be helpful as we have a few members who are battling with glaucoma and diabetes.

"We want to share the work we do and maybe pick up some new ideas. Our association seeks to help transform and rebuild lives and help improve the quality of life of veterans across Skelmersdale and West Lancashire."

Meanwhile the veterans are going to an armed forces day parade in Llandudno on Saturday, June 30 and want to invite any part-sighted veterans from the borough to join them.

The Skelmersdale veterans have also been building their friendships with Wigan Athletic Community Trust, the Youth Zone and the EDs centre in Wigan. And there are plans for different veteran organisations from throughout the North West to play each other in a five a side football tournament.

Alan Lewis added: "Wigan Athletic Community Trust FA understands the importance of supporting veterans leagues and their role in providing a safe and structured environment that allows everyone connected with the game to enjoy their participation in it.

"We maintain a close working relationship with all league and veterans' officials and league volunteers to ensure Wigan FA can identify areas of support like Skelmersdale and West Lancashire."

The Skelmersdale Veterans' Association joined a number of other associations from cross the North West for a tournament at the JJB Stadium on Saturday, April 14 and then watched Wigan Athletic play Rotherham.

Officials of the Skem vets have also met Wigan vets officials and members to see how they can work in partnership and plans are in progress to play each other in a five-a-side walking football tournament.

The Skelmersdale Veterans are also now on social media.

County's cabinet agrees new 'dementia friendly' strategy

Report by Henry James

A NEW strategy to tackle dementia across the county was agreed by Lancashire County Council's cabinet on Thursday, April 12.

The Dementia Friendly Lancashire strategy outlines how the authority will work with other organisations to address dementia between 2018 and 2023.

It pinpoints five areas to focus on as follows:

- Reducing the prevalence of dementia in Lancashire.
- Raising awareness of all types of dementia.
- Promoting early diagnosis and increase diagnosis rates.
- Ensuring people access early treatment and get the support they need to live independently.
- Ensuring the county council becomes a 'Dementia Friendly' organisation and continues to develop partnerships to address dementia.

Research suggests that there are currently around 15,500 people living with dementia in Lancashire.

County Councillor Shaun Turner

And this figure is set to rise by as much as 27% by 2026 due to population growth in the older age groups.

County Councillor Shaun Turner, Lancashire's cabinet member for health and well-being, said: "Dementia is already an important health issue and the ageing population means more and more people across Lancashire will live with the condition in the next few years.

"This new strategy is crucial in setting out how we will build on the good work we already do in Lancashire and we've consulted people living with dementia and their families to give them the opportunity to have their say on our plans.

"We want to raise awareness of dementia and encourage people to talk about it. Detecting dementia early can often lead to better support for people living with the condition and their families.

Reviewed

"This will help people access the treatment they need sooner to slow down progression of the condition so they can continue to live independently for as long as possible. The strategy will also ensure we can improve care for people who need more intensive support.

"It outlines how the county council will become a 'dementia friendly' organisation by ensuring our staff will have had dementia awareness training, its working carers policy will be reviewed and it will give people living with dementia and their families more opportunities to share their views about services they use."

Steve is a 'serious' contender for first pro belt at second time of asking

PROFESSIONAL boxer Steve Brogan is set to return to the ring on Saturday, May 12 when he faces Yorkshireman Ben Wager at the BT Convention Centre, Liverpool for the Central Area lightweight title.

This will be the 34-year-old Skelmersdale fighter's second title bid, following his clash with Lee Appleyard for the vacant English lightweight title in Doncaster in July last year.

That bout saw Brogan suffer a TKO, the only defeat to date of his 14-fight pro career and followed successive draws against Henry Janes.

Previously Brogan, whose ring nickname is 'Serious', had racked up 10 successive wins after joining the paid ranks in December 2014.

And he got back to winning ways last November with a points win against the vastly experienced Blackburn-born, Reading-based Ibrar Riyaz at the BT Convention Centre

Title holder Wager can also boast more experience than Brogan but has a lower win percentage.

The 27-year-old from Barnsley has claimed 13 victories with one draw and nine losses from his 23 fights as a pro.

Skem boxer 'Serious' Steve Brogan and his training team

Steve though is confident of making it second time lucky in his bid to lift a belt.

He told the Champion: "Training has gone as planned and we've left no stone unturned.

"I really believe I'm a level above and I've had a great camp up to now including sparring with top fighters, Commonwealth lightweight champion Sean 'Masher' Dodd and WBA Continental super lightweight champion Robbie Davies junior.

"I'm confident the title will be coming back to Skelmersdale with me."

Tickets for the show, which starts at 6.45pm (doors open 6pm) and features a number of other North West-based fighters, are priced £40 (standard) and £60 (ringside). For details of how to buy them go to Facebook Steve Brogan boxer fan page @steseriousbrogan.

Some of the pupils who took part in the Sport Relief event

Schools join forces to raise £1,500-plus for Sport Relief

PUPILS from Brookfield Park and Kingsbury primary schools teamed up with Lathom High School to help raise money for Sport Relief.

After discussions between the schools on how to help the worthy cause it was decided that the primary pupils would run, skip, jog or walk a mile. And the youngsters took on the challenge with relish raising money, buying wristbands and practising their techniques ready for the big day.

On the day the Brookfield Park and Kingsbury pupils were walked down to Lathom High by student council leaders and former Brookfield Park pupils promoting a "great sense of community" with smiles all around.

And after a fun warm-up Lathom pupils helped the younger children around, encouraging them as they completed the mile before celebrating with a creme egg and a drink at the finish.

Aimee Fischer, a Year 6 pupil at Brookfield Park, said: "It was really fun to do, but not only that we also got to raise money for other countries that need help."

Brookfield Park PE co-ordinator, Amy Forster, added: "Together, the schools have raised more than £1,500, a valiant effort all round, thanks to the schools involved in the organisation of the event and the dedication of the children. Well done!"

Woodland pupils are hockey hot-shots

PUPILS at Woodland Primary School in Birch Green are celebrating after winning a hockey competition held in Skelmersdale.

The event was organised by SHARES (Skelmersdale Headteachers Association, Raising Educational Standards), an alliance of schools that is committed to improving outcomes for children and families in the town.

A spokesperson for SHARES said: "The standard of performance and sportsmanship on display was outstanding. Congratulations to all who took part. Also thank-you to the young leaders from Our Lady Queen of Peace College who refereed throughout the evening."

Officials of the West Lancashire Freemasons hand over the motorbikes

Freemasons present motorbikes worth £40,000 to Blood Bikes volunteers

Generous donation will help group maintain their role delivering vital supplies and equipment to hospitals throughout region

Report by Henry James

MEMBERS of a volunteer group, which saves the NHS money by delivering vital blood supplies and other items to hospitals throughout the region free of charge, have been presented with two brand new BMW R1200RT-P motorbikes by the West Lancashire Freemasons.

Provincial Grand Master, Tony Harrison and assistant Provincial Grand Masters, David Winder and Kevin Poynton, along with Steve Kayne, chief executive of the West Lancashire Freemasons' Charity, formally handed over the two new liveried bikes, worth more than £40,000, to officials of the North West Blood Bikes (NWBB) at their headquarters in Bamber Bridge.

Grateful

Tony said: "I am delighted to be able to present these motorbikes on behalf of the Freemasons in West Lancs to North West Blood Bikes as they will help them in the vital role they play in supporting the NHS in their work."

Simon Hanson, the Blood Bikes' fleet manager, said: "Since my appointment I have been working with Honda, BMW and multiple charities and local businesses to replace the fleet of 12 liveried motorbikes, as they had mostly done 80,000 miles-plus and in some cases were more than eight years old when I was appointed.

"This very generous donation by the Freemasons in West Lancashire completes my renewal plan and they, along with the other new motorbikes, will greatly reduce the number of breakdowns we have been having with our old fleet.

"It will also increase our ability to support the NHS out of normal hours (7pm to 2am) in the week and 24/7 at weekends."

Simon then presented Tony and Steve with a certificate of thanks for the donation of the two motorbikes.

Paul Brooks, NWBB chairman, added: "I am really grateful for the support we receive from all our sponsors, especially from the Freemasons, as they have not only donated these two wonderful motorbikes, but many of their members support us by giving their time working as NWBB riders."

North West Blood Bikes respond to more than 1,000 calls a month with their 350 volunteers using their own motorbikes and cars as well as the liveried motorbikes.

The 12 liveried motorbikes are used for calls that involve motorway, long distances, rush hour journeys and calls moving urgent blood samples and other lifesaving items.

The Blood Bikes have five bases in the region. These are North (Lancaster, Kendal and Barrow); Central (Preston and Chorley); West (Ormskirk and Southport); Flyde (Blackpool and Flyde); and East (Blackburn and Burnley).

Police commissioner welcomes £9m fund to tackle cybercrime but says it's only a start

'a challenge of this scale needs a sustained national effort...'

Report by Henry James

LANCASHIRE'S Police and Crime Commissioner, Clive Grunshaw, has welcomed the announcement of a new £9m fund to fight cybercrime as a 'start' to tackling what he called 'one of the biggest challenges facing policing.'

Home Secretary, Amber Rudd, announced the funding at the National Cyber Security Centre's CYBERUK conference in Manchester.

Mr Grunshaw, who is also the Association of Police and Crime Commissioners' national lead for fraud and cybercrime, said: "Online crime now accounts for more than half of all crime committed every day and this is set to grow rapidly, so the way we tackle crime has to change as online criminals attempt to stay one step ahead in the constantly evolving digital world.

Clive Grunshaw

"Whether it's illegal activities hidden in the dark web or brazen scams, robbing victims of their life savings, forces across the country need the resources which allow them to tackle online criminals on both a local and national scale.

"This announcement of dedicated resources and money for local responses is a welcome start, but a challenge of this scale needs a sustained national effort to take on those who use cyber space to commit often extremely serious crimes, and there is more to be done to strengthen the links between local forces, regional hubs and national agencies.

Demand

"It is also crucial that public and private sector work with law enforcement agencies to prevent individuals and businesses becoming victims and to tackle this problem together.

"Commissioners and police forces are seeing increased demand up and down the country for a response to cybercrime and we will look forward to working with the Home Secretary and national agencies to ensure a joined up policing response and better protection for the public."

Trust fund legacy provides £3,000 donation for 'growing' charity

A WEST Lancs charity which organises fitness activities for young people and adults with learning disabilities has been handed a welcome cash boost.

Burscough-based Sporting Challenge received a £3,000 donation from a trust set up by a Lancashire businessman who died in 1981.

The William Openshaw Street Trust, which makes grants to registered charities working in Lancashire (as defined before the 1974 boundaries changes) and Jersey in the Channel Islands, was established by a bequest of £3.5 million by a businessman from Bury.

Edward McCarthy, Sporting Challenge Activities Organiser, said: "On behalf of Sporting Challenge I wish to thank the trust for their most generous funding award.

Support

"Our numbers are growing and the majority of new members are aged 16 to 22 which is a key area we need to support and this number is set to grow even further.

"We are working with Lancashire County Council to provide support and sessions for these transition-aged adults as this can be a difficult time for them and their families.

"There is a lot of change and they can easily lose friendships as they move from school or college. Our group can help people make new friends, grow in confidence and keep fit and healthy."

Anyone wanting more information about the group can email Edward at EMSS@gmail.com or ring 07971 299606.

Fixing the Tory Mess

Leader of the Labour Council, Cllr Ian Moran

After 13 years of Tory mess under the leadership of 'Our West Lancashire' boss Cllr Adrian Owens and Cllr David Westley, a Labour administration with real ambition for West Lancashire has, since 2015, been getting on with the job of improving council services to support residents and businesses across the borough.

Under the Tories' spineless rule, West Lancashire was heading for real decline.

Tawd Valley reclaimed by Labour

© Copyright David Dixon

The biggest Tory disaster, which Labour is working hard to sort out, has been its utter failure to deliver on the long-promised town centre. After being granted thousands and thousands of pounds of regeneration cash in the early 2000s, the Tories ended up selling the people of Skelmersdale (and West Lancashire) down the river through weak leadership and incompetent contracting. The contract for Skelmersdale Town Centre was signed with St Modwen by West Lancashire Borough Council under the Tories. It turned out that there was no break clause inserted, meaning the 'developer' had 15 years to decide whether to build anything or not. Labour is picking up the pieces of a development which could and should have been delivered a decade ago, but which has been mired in legal complexity.

Meanwhile, the council's sports centres and swimming pools were neglected, with no planning for the future. The well-used Skelmersdale sports centre was simply closed and left to rot, then burn down, despite turning an operating profit. And they call themselves the party of business! Similarly, the Tawd Valley Country Park, once the Jewel in the Crown of the new town was left to decline by the Tories, and became associated with anti-social behaviour.

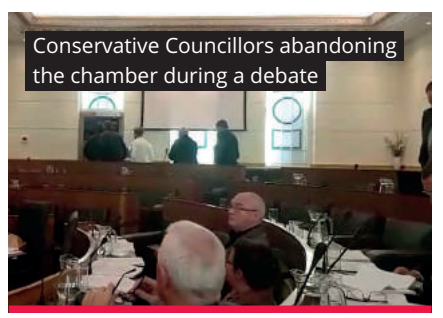
On top of that, growing problems with flooding and road decay were greeted with a political shrug of the shoulders by a Tory administration too busy fighting each other and splitting into different factions and parties to bother with the concerns of West Lancashire residents.

It's been an uphill struggle, but progress is being made on the town centre, and on sports facilities across the borough, including Skelmersdale. With great support from our MP Rosie Cooper, the council is keeping up its push for the long-awaited and much-needed rail spur into the centre of town.

A masterplan has been developed for the revitalisation and long-term management of the Tawd Valley Country Park, and funding applications are being put together by council and community groups in partnership.

At the same time, Labour has set up a development company to address the housing problems across the borough and is planning for the long term with a 30-year Local Plan under development and consultation. The Local Plan will seek to capture opportunities for high quality employment growth while meeting the inevitable challenges of climate change. The Tories have walked out on this process, just as they walked out of the Council Chamber in October, in flagrant disregard of their democratic duties.

Labour is also challenging the privatised utilities company to make proper investment in drainage and pumping facilities, and has set out its stall against Fracking, while the opposition parties sit on the fence, failing to take any stand to protect residents' health and well-being.



Conservative Councillors abandoning the chamber during a debate

In short, while the opposition parties bicker and talk down West Lancashire, Labour is getting on with the job. We're ambitious for health, ambitious for jobs and business, ambitious for transport, ambitious for families.

We're ambitious for West Lancashire. We hope you'll vote Labour on Thursday May 3rd, so that we can keep on cleaning up the Tory mess.

MP's office signs up to Parkinson's charity's workplace training initiative

ROSIE Cooper marked World Parkinson's Day (Wednesday, April 11) by pledging to help improve the lives of sufferers of the degenerative nervous disorder.

The West Lancs MP's office has signed up to take part in Parkinson's in the Workplace training offered by research and support charity, Parkinson's UK.

The training aims to raise awareness of the challenges people with Parkinson's face and the push for greater awareness is part of the charity's activity to encourage people to Unite for Parkinson's, as a survey found that 32 per cent of people with Parkinson's have been stared at in public and 11 per cent have been laughed at. In addition, 32 per cent of people do not feel that their symptoms are socially acceptable.

Parkinson's affects 145,000 people in the UK, which is one in 350 people in West Lancashire. With the number of people affected expected to increase by a fifth by 2025, the charity is aiming to change attitudes about Parkinson's to make life better for everyone living with the condition.

Through the training, Ms Cooper's office will learn more about the condition and the complex symptoms people face, as well as how to recognise and best support constituents with Parkinson's.

Rosie Cooper is supporting the Parkinson's UK workplace training initiative

Rosie Cooper said: "It is shocking that people with Parkinson's face so many barriers, including being mistaken for being drunk, when out in public.

"My office staff and I want to take the training so that we are all better equipped to improve the lives of everyone affected by the condition in West Lancashire and better understand the issues faced by those who come to me for advice and support."

Steve Ford, chief executive of Parkinson's UK, said: "We are thrilled that Rosie Cooper MP and her team have signed up to our Parkinson's in the Workplace training.

"Lack of public understanding can make simple things like getting the bus, going to work, or even heading out to the pub with friends daunting for people with Parkinson's.

"That's why one small action like signing up to learn more about the condition can have a big impact on people with Parkinson's.

"We look forward to seeing the difference Rosie's support can make for her constituents in West Lancashire."

Rosie Cooper is also backing a petition from Parkinson's UK calling for more organisations to sign up for the training.

Care home's £225 boost for couple's Alzheimer's Society fundraising bid

A COUPLE'S bid to raise funds for the Alzheimer's Society received a £225 boost following an event at the Abbey Wood Lodge care home in Ormskirk.

Jen and Dave Roberts, whose relative is a resident at the home, will be doing a sponsored midnight climb up Mount Snowdon on Friday, June 8 in aid of the dementia charity.

To help the couple's sponsorship drive the County Road venue held a coffee morning and raffle, followed by an afternoon sing-along with vocalist Jeff Corrigan and attended by the Deputy Mayor and Mayoress of West Lancashire, Councillor Noel Delaney and Mrs Ann Stubbert, and Mayor of Maghull, Councillor June Burns.

Jen Roberts said: "Thanks to the care home manager, Sharon Hall and the Abbey Wood Lodge team for the lovely afternoon."

Anyone wishing to donate to Jen and Dave's appeal can do so at www.justgiving.com/fundraising/dave-jen-roberts

Condition of roundabout is potentially dangerous and damaging to vehicles

AS I consider myself a responsible driver I felt it only right to report the condition of the roundabout at Hall Lane and Lowry Hill Lane, Lathom, to the council as the potholes surrounding it now fall into double figures.

I commute this way every day and on the return journey to Skelmersdale navigating this roundabout is extremely uncomfortable and no doubt damaging to my car.

The only way to avoid this is to drive straight across the mini roundabout which, at busy times, creates other problems and can be highly dangerous.

Imagine my surprise to get the following response from the council: "Based on officers inspecting the roundabout recently after intervention level pothole defects were repaired (really?) it was decided that no further work at the roundabout was necessary as the road is in satisfactory condition."

I feel sure many other readers like me will disagree.

I also reported the condition of Spa Lane, to which I got a similar response.

In order to safely navigate this road it is essential to drive with the central white lines down the middle of your car which can be extremely dangerous.

It is only a matter of time before there is a serious accident on either of these routes as drivers concentrate on avoiding damage to their vehicles through potholes only to find themselves involved in an RTA.

Andrew Mitchell, by email

Council should be more vigilant about graffiti at play areas

MY wife has just informed me that, having just returned from the children's playground and skateboard area in Birch Green, she had to try and explain to our five-year-old grandson and his little friend what the picture was on one of the ramps.

Basically it's a drawing of a person with male genitalia for eyes and nose, breasts and a penis urinating with an offensive two-word term referring to breasts written alongside.

There is a camera pointing straight at the playground on the opposite side of the road so the taxpayer-funded council has no excuse for not knowing who did it, or at least not knowing that it is there.

No doubt, the excuse will be 'government cuts' but that should not be accepted.

Children should be the first consideration when budgets are allocated.

The council should ensure that drawings like that in areas like that are removed straight away and, even better, the culprits identified and 're-educated'.

If this correspondence finds its way into print and asterisks are deemed to be necessary then no further explanation is necessary.

Easter closing is the law, Ron...

I DON'T know where Ron Webster (Letters, April 11) has been living but the Concourse and Asda have not opened on Easter Sunday for many years.

They cannot, by law. Only small shops can and their opening times are usually restricted.

At one time only fishmongers were permitted to open on Good Friday, as I remember, and then only in the morning.

DWS, Skelmersdale

PICTURE of the week

New bin system is a waste of money

HOW l agree with all the letters about the brown bins!

Why do we have to have another bin? And green has always been associated with gardens while brown seems much more like cardboard but it's still just another ugly bin!

How can this be saving the ratepayers' money? They must cost a fair amount. I feel sure it could be spent much wiser.

The council must sit around the table wondering what next to spend our money on.

J. Jones, Aughton, by email

I've had to pay for a new brown bin and garden waste collection

CAN I point out to Arthur Welch (Letters, April 11) that because I didn't subscribe to the garden collection scheme last year I have had to not only purchase a new brown bin for £25, but also paid £30 for garden waste collection this year.

Also, without wanting to be flippant, my black bin, so described, has changed to grey overnight!

John M. Brown, Aughton

Anyone know what's happened to plans for a cinema in Skem?

IS there any possibility someone could provide the good people of Skelmersdale with information as to what is happening regarding a cinema?

Both the Concourse and St Modwen apparently have planning permission to build one.

The Light Chain signed a contract in March 2016 to build one on the Concourse and St Modwen have another contract with another chain.

Unfortunately, nothing appears to be happening with either one.

Is it also possible to investigate why the local council in their wisdom decided to give two companies planning permission to build a cinema within six months of each other resulting in legal cases?

Why could they not have told St Modwen 'no' but you can build a bowling alley? That way both companies would benefit.

Moira Warburton-Smith, by email

So glad to see I'm not the only grumpy old 'so-and-so'!

THERE are more important things, I know, but well done Jim Sharpe for highlighting a lack of standards and common sense (Champion, March 28) and also Allyson Drury (April 11) about the use of 'so'.

I'm obviously not the only grumpy old 'so-and-so'!

However, have you also noticed that every TV correspondent when answering a question invariably starts with 'Well...'?

Regarding Jim's thoughts on Brighton and Hove Council's enlightened ideas of modes of address, I do understand that modern English, unlike other languages, doesn't have different uses for 'you' - eg: singular, plural, polite, familiar.

However, when some schools seem unwilling to address their female pupils as 'girls', we see TV presenters using the irritatingly increasing practice of referring to their guests as 'you guys', when they may be all women.

This is annoying in the extreme.

Lack of investment has seen our once lovely village become dirty and rundown

DURING the winter I have walked to work along pavements in Up Holland where there were rotting leaves, litter left partly by the bin and recycling men, broken glass, and ice due to water sitting on the pavements.

When there is heavy rain I get splashed by cars going through puddles on the roads as there is nowhere for the surface water to go as the grids alongside the road are blocked.

Now it is spring and I was hoping to cycle to work but the cycle lanes are full of rotting leaves and sludge, totally unusable.

Up Holland used to be such a lovely village, now it is dirty and rundown.

I regularly have to clear the sludge and weeds growing at the side of the road outside my house so the water can get to the grid, which I also have to unblock regularly otherwise my cellar floods.

How are residents supposed to have pride in their village if the local council is unwilling to maintain and invest?

The more my council tax goes up the less we seem to get!

Residents urged to recycle more of their bathroom bottles and packaging

County council supporting campaign to get recycling rates back up

RESIDENTS in Lancashire are being urged to get into the habit of recycling more bathroom items to help boost the county's recycling rates.

A national study has found that making the extra effort to put bottles and packaging from the bathroom in the right bin is one of the best things people can do to boost recycling.

After a decade of strong growth, UK household recycling rates have levelled off, with Lancashire residents recycling 45.7% in 2016/17.

Now the county council is supporting a campaign aimed at getting recycling rates on the up again by encouraging people to adopt a simple system to make bathroom recycling an everyday habit.

County Councillor Charlie Edwards, Lancashire's lead member for health and adult services, said: "Everybody has an important part to play by making some small changes if we are to conserve our planet. We know people find it more difficult to recycle bathroom items, but we're asking them to make the extra effort as the benefits would be really big.

County Councillor Charlie Edward

"Most of us are in the habit of recycling in the kitchen where we have room for separate recycling bins, but nearly four in 10 people say they don't always recycle bathroom items and things that could be recycled end up in landfill.

"So much in the bathroom can be recycled - plastic shower gel and shampoo bottles, spray cleaner and bleach bottles, aerosol cans, and cardboard toothpaste boxes and toilet roll tubes.

"If more people recycled these things it could really make a difference and take Lancashire's recycling rates to the next level.

"And there are some simple things we can do to make it easy to recycle in the bathroom including hanging a bag on the bathroom door or putting items in a cupboard or drawer until there's enough to take to the recycling bin.

"You could also re-purpose a nice box or basket to collect your empties, get a small bathroom recycling bin, or simply leave them on the landing and take them to the main recycling bin next time you're passing."

To find out more about the Recycle Now campaign by the national recycling charity WRAP go to the website www.lancashire.gov.uk/waste.

A clip round the ear 'ole helped to teach me right from wrong

WHAT has gone wrong with our children? Or, perhaps, what's gone wrong with our parents and teachers? Because something has certainly changed in recent times - and changed very much for the worse.

According to a teachers' union report, teachers and their assistants are regularly facing physical attacks these days from children as young as four. Apparently they have to suffer biting, hair-pulling and punching and pushing.

Other staff have been forced not to wear anything loose after pupils have attempted to strangle them, while an assistant head in Lancashire ended up in hospital after he was head-butted by an annoyed 14-year-old member of his class!

When I was at school, either aged four or 14, anything even approaching this sort of insurrection would - no, could - not have even entered my head or that of anyone I knew at the time.

But then, from the same horrific report, the NASUWT gave at least the partial answer as to why. The usual 21st Century answer. Why, 'insufficient funding' of course! Now why didn't I think of that?

Apparently there is a need to provide special needs assessments for children with a history of violence being placed in mainstream schools without enough support. They need 'special diagnosis'.

Well, probably a very few do. But, and I'll keep my head down as I suggest this, most of them would respond quite well to an old-fashioned clip round the ear 'ole.

I know this very idea is complete anathema to most folk these days but when I was at school, I, and most kids I knew, suffered at one time or several, a ruler across the hand, the slipper - or, heaven forbid, a trip to the head's office with the prospect of the dreaded cane.

The latter I never suffered, not because I was particularly good, but because I had enough sense to realise that being particularly bad resulted in something I had no wish to suffer.

Quite apart from that, there was my dad to consider too. I dread to think what would have resulted should a report ever have reached him that I had sworn at a teacher, let alone tried to strangle him or her.

A few years ago it was common to hear the mantra that if you hit your child, then he or she would grow to hate you and become a bully him or herself. Rubbish. My dad quite often did give me a clip over my ear, I did receive (usually, though not always deserved) a slipper across my bum, at both primary and secondary school.

And I grew up not only to love my dad - he became my best friend once I had grown up - but I respected my teachers and also learned the valuable lesson that not everything in this world is necessarily fair. In fact, I learned that if you did something sufficiently bad, something horrible was likely to result.

Importantly though, I didn't resent the punishment because from my earliest years I had been taught the difference between right and wrong and the need to respect others.

And I will tell you who is to blame for our present problems with children and young people generally. It is my generation - the children born shortly after the end of the Second World War; the young people who went in for flower-power, free love and Ban the Bomb. Half of us, I reckon, tried to grow up just like our parents. The other half rebelled. We were both wrong.

We were a generation who could change the ways we lived, because our parents had fought a war, at least partly to make a world free from tyranny. I reckon the trouble was that while some of my generation went overboard with the word freedom, others, like me, stubbornly tried to maintain the status quo.

Babies and bathwater come to mind.

Police plea for information after town-centre assault

Report by Kenny Parker

POLICE have issued images of three men they want to speak to in connection with a serious assault in Ormskirk town centre.

The incident took place at around 2.25am on Sunday, March 4 in Moor Street, close to the Clock Tower, when a man was the subject of a vicious attack by three assailants.

The victim, a 27-year-old from Liverpool, had earlier been in the Alpine bar on Railway Road where he had a verbal altercation with three men.

After leaving the bar he was followed by the men before being attacked and suffering a fractured cheek bone and fractured eye socket which required surgery at hospital.

As a result of CCTV enquiries, police want to identify the three men pictured in these images (right) in connection with the offence and are appealing to anyone with information to come forward.

PC Pete Chesters, of Skelmersdale Police, said: "We want to identify these three men in connection with a serious assault in Ormskirk.

"Despite conducting a number of enquiries we have yet to locate these individuals and would urge anyone with information to contact us.

"The victim has been left with serious facial injuries. I believe someone must know who these men are and can assist with our investigation."

Anyone with information can contact police on 101 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111 or online at www.crimestoppers-uk.org.

Police are asking for help to identify these three men following a serious assault in Ormskirk town centre.

Force takes part in child safeguarding conference

REPRESENTATIVES of Lancashire Police joined other forces, senior safeguarding professionals from local authorities, schools, and leading child protection charity, The Lucy Faithfull Foundation at a major child safeguarding conference to consider new strategies to stamp out the creation, viewing and sharing online of sexually explicit images of children.

Staged at Leigh Sports Village and entitled The Internet and Indecent Images of Children: Working Together to Make Children Safe, the event was organised by TITAN, the Regional Organised Crime Unit for police forces across the North West, and chaired by Assistant Chief Constable of Merseyside Police, Alan Barr.

Delegates received presentations from a range of perspectives including the ex-wife of an offender, a police officer working in a specialist unit working with child victims and the voice of an offender.

Police also shared the findings and successes of a public awareness campaign launched in January.

More than 100,000 individuals from across the UK are regularly accessing indecent images of children online, according to police figures. To counter this, police forces in the North West joined The Lucy Faithfull Foundation's Stop it Now! campaign to tackle the demand for sexual images of under-18s online.

Using various media, it aims to raise public awareness and to educate offenders about the harm caused to children in the images. It also highlights the increase in police activity across the region to tackle the issue, driving home the consequences of their behaviour to offenders and making people aware that there is help available to stop such behaviour.

Alan Barr said: "We all have a role to play both individually and as organisations in creating safe online places for children and keeping children safe.

"We have had a significant amount of success but we must not rest on our laurels and we must continue to improve our understanding of the threat and the challenge this possesses."

Still time to make a splash for cancer charities by signing up for Swimathon

THERE'S still time to sign up to make a splash for two worthy causes in the annual Swimathon appeal.

This year the event, which raises money for Cancer Research UK and Marie Curie, will be held over the weekend of Friday, April 27 to Sunday, April 29 and as ever participants can choose from a range of distances. Individuals can opt to swim 400m, 1.5k, 2.5k or 5k, while teams can choose 1.5k or 5k.

Swimmers of all ages and abilities are invited to take part by being sponsored to complete their challenges at pools across the area, including Park Pool at Ormskirk and Skelmersdale's Nye Bevan Pool.

£48m-plus raised

There's also a chance to take part in 'My Swimathon' where participants can complete one of the individual challenges or set their own distance at any time between Friday, April 20 and Sunday, May 6.

Swimathon was launched in 1988 and since then more than 700,000 participants have dived into 1,000 pools across the UK, raising in excess of £48m for charity. Cancer Research UK and Marie Curie are the official charity partners of Swimathon 2018.

For more information or to sign up visit www.Swimathon.org.

Edge Hill bidding for hat-trick of triumphs over rivals in sporting 'Battle of Lancashire'

SPORTY students at Edge Hill University are gearing up to bid for a hat-trick of triumphs when they take on the University of Central Lancashire in Varsity 2018.

More than 20 different sports teams will compete in the tournament to be held on sports facilities across the Ormskirk campus and other locations in the town, on Wednesday, April 25.

Team Edge Hill have defeated their rivals from Preston in the annual event for the last two years running.

Some 500-plus students from the two universities, both men and women, will take part in a range of sports, including rugby, football, cricket, netball, badminton, basketball and American football, in a highly-competitive contested dubbed 'The Battle of Lancashire'.

Dan Bocharnikov, Edge Hill students' union vice-president activities, said:"Varsity 2018 is going to be bigger and better than ever before, with more teams, new sports, and even a Quidditch showcase.

"We invite all members of the local community to come along to watch the matches, to see what Team Edge Hill is all about.

"Sports play such an important part in many students' lives during their time at Edge Hill, and we'd love for people in West Lancashire to become supporters, cheer us on and help us retain the trophy for a third year running."

The official timetable is available from today (Wednesday, April 18) at www.edgehillsu.org.uk/varsity, and all are welcome to attend the event.

Rugby is just one of the sports in which students from Edge Hill University will be bidding to overcome their old rivals from the University of Central Lancashire, Preston in their annual Varsity Games event.

Primary school's orienteering team on course for county games finals

PUPILS at a West Lancs primary school are on the right track after clinching a place in what is described as the largest youth sporting event in Lancashire.

The orienteering team from St Michael's CE Primary in Aughton (pictured, right) defeated 16 other schools from the borough in bitterly cold conditions at Tarleton Academy and will now represent West Lancs at the SPAR Lancashire School Games county finals in Blackpool this summer.

Organised by Active Lancashire, the SPAR Lancashire School Games comprises a series of inclusive sporting events for all schoolchildren across the county.

More than 3,500 pupils at schools compete in a range of sports, including gymnastics, football, athletics, mixed cricket and touch rugby, to gain a place at the finals to be held at the resort's Stanley Park in July.

'Bump and Beyond' event proves a hit

ORGANISERS of a pregnancy information evening for mothers-to-be have declared it a success and are planning a second in the autumn.

The 'Bump and Beyond' event was held at the premises of My Baby Scan at Burscough Wharf, which was set up by NHS trained sonographers Julie Mitchell, Alison Higham and Amanda Stewart, last year to provide services for expectant mums including ultrasound 3D and 4D foetus imaging.

It brought together an array of professionals showcasing their own services and products aimed at preconception, pregnancy and post-natal care.

Healthcare professionals, guests and visitors at the 'Bump and Beyond' event.

Work begins on £9.32m pylon refurb scheme

NATIONAL Grid has started work on a £9.32m project to refurbish the high-voltage power line that supplies electricity across West Lancashire.

Between now and November, engineers will be painting and replacing some steelwork on 102 pylons on a 35km section of overhead line that runs between the Kirkby substation and Penwortham, passing through east of Ormskirk and Burscough.

The line runs mainly in rural areas and site teams will be working during daylight hours. Electricity supplies will continue uninterrupted during the work.

Temporary

The power line was built in 1958 and the energy company says the planned work will make sure that it continues to work safely, efficiently and economically for future years.

National Grid project engineer, Martin Bretherton, said: "Our highly-skilled engineers will be working to make sure that this power line operates efficiently for many years to come."

As engineers work on the line, the power supplier says that people may see temporary roads and track ways created across fields, some tree and vegetation clearance, traffic management signs and during the work members of the team climbing the pylons.

For more information local residents can call National Grid's community relations team on 0800 8199 071 between 9am and 5pm Monday to Friday. An answering service will operate outside of these times.

Long-serving lollipop lady says thanks, folks

A LONG-serving lollipop lady from West Lancashire has contacted the Champion to say thanks to her local community for all their love and good wishes following a recent presentation in her honour.

Brenda Adair has been helping children from Parbold Douglas CE Academy to safely cross nearby Lancaster Lane since 1972.

And in recognition of her efforts the 79-year-old from Parbold was presented with a certificate by Douglas Valley Lions Club and honoured in an assembly at the school, as reported in the Champ.

Brenda, who is Lancashire's second-longest serving lollipop lady, says she has received too many messages wishing her well to thank individually and asked to use the columns of the paper to express her gratitude.

She said: "I would just like to thank everyone for their love and good wishes. I don't think there's many people who can say they've enjoyed every single day they've worked but I have!"

Surreal evening of comedy, music and fun

JOIN Bill Bailey for a surreal evening of comedy, music and fun, when he plays Southport Theatre on Friday 27 and Saturday, April 28 at 8pm.

Larks in Transit is a compendium of travellers' tales and the general shenanigans of his 20years as a travelling comedian.

With musical virtuosity, surreal tangents and trademark intelligence, Bill Bailey tackles politics, philosophy and the pursuit of happiness.

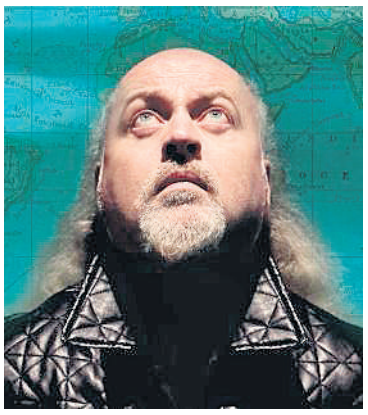
Plus, he fashions a symphony from a ringtone, tells the real story of Old McDonald, and re-imagines the Stars and Stripes.

Bill Bailey is a comedian, musician, writer, author, director, presenter and keen stand-up paddle-boarder known for his live shows such as Part Troll, Tinselworm, Qualmpeddler and Limboland and his work on the television programmes Black Books, Never Mind the Buzzcocks and QI.

Never afraid to push boundaries, in 2008 Bill wrote and performed his Remarkable Guide to the Orchestra at the Royal Albert Hall with Anne Dudley and the BBC Concert Orchestra.

This was broadcast on BBC Two in 2009 and went on to win two International Awards at the Banff International TV Festival.

A keen ornithologist, Bill Bailey's Birdwatching Bonanza was transmitted in January 2010 on Sky1 while, in 2016, Bill Bailey's Remarkable Guide to British Birds was published by Quercus Books.



Bill Bailey

Last year, Bill curated the Cabinet of Curiosities exhibition at Hull Maritime Museum as part of Hull's 2017 City of Culture, and walked 100 miles along the Icknield Way and the Ridgeway Path to raise money for Stand Up To Cancer. He kicked off 2018 filming acomedy drama In The Long Run created by Idris Elba for Sky.

The Cemetery Club was 'intelligent, and funny'

Review by Ron Ellis

The Cemetery Club by Ivan Menchell
Ormskirk Theatre Company
Toby Carvery, Ormskirk

A SOPHISTICATED Jewish comedy which brought laughter and tears in equal measure and provided a most enjoyable night's entertainment in this cosy bijou theatre.

A cleverly designed set featured an attractive front room of a house where three ladies meet each month to lay flowers on the graves of their respective dead husbands. Alongside were the three headstones representing the cemetery.

The acerbic verbal exchanges between the women, as they demonstrated how they adjusted to their bereavements, were worthy of Neil Simon at his best.

Barby Filllingham played Doris, a professional widow, emotionally chained to her lost love, whereas the glamorous Lucille (Pat Baker), dressed to the nines in a fake mink coat, couldn't wait to tell her friends about all her latest conquests, revenge for her late spouse's constant philandering.

The quiet Ida (Sue Morris) was ready to start dating again, but only if she found the right man. When along came Sam (Dave Smith), a lonely widower, she and he got together and started dating, much to Lucille's envy and Doris's disapproval.

How long are people expected to grieve? Doris and Lucille warn Sam off, saying it was wrong of him to pester Ida who 'needed more time to mourn'.

The widows are invited to a wedding as bridesmaids, Lucille replete in a hideous blue wig. Sam turns up with a younger woman, Mildred (Ann Todd).

The cast of The Cemetery Club

Ida is distressed and the three widows retreat back to the house and get drunk in a riotous scene where a few home truths are told.

This was a play that held the interest from start to finish, in turns both poignant and hilarious. A great success for the company whose next production in July is their version of the popular TV comedy, 'Allo 'Allo!

Star rating 7 out of 10. An intelligent, funny and heartwarming comedy.

Gatecrasher Classical is coming to the Liverpool Empire

Gatecrasher Classical show coming to city in June

FOLLOWING on from the success of three sold out Gatecrasher Classical Shows in Sheffield, the next Gatecrasher Classical date is in Liverpool at the Liverpool Empire Theatre on Saturday, June 2.

The Gatecrasher Classical events in Sheffield, which sold out within a matter of hours, were spectacular experiences, taking the global brand to new heights and audiences alike, and have already joined the list of unforgettable experiences in Gatecrasher's 24 year history.

After receiving phenomenal responses from clubbers, artists and performers, with hundreds of calls for Gatecrasher Classical in other cities, Gatecrasher are set to bring their Classical events to a wider audience in cities with a rich musical heritage and Liverpool certainly has that. Famous for the Fab Four, and more recently the UKs biggest dance music festival, it's a perfect city for the first classical event outside of Sheffield and the Liverpool Empire sets the backdrop for this exclusive show — Remade, Remixed & Recharged for June 2018.

Club will definitely meet Classical when Gatecrasher take over the Grade II listed building at the Liverpool Empire Theatre, which boasts the largest two tier auditorium in the UK, is famed for its architecture & Louis XVI style decor and has many curious features adorning the internal theatre walls.

Teamed up with Gatecrasher's next level production; this event will feature a full laser and light show synonymous with the global brand plus a full club sound system, creating an experience as you've never witnessed before.

Gatecrasher Classical Liverpool will see Gatecrasher up-the-ante further with the next Classical event promising clubbers a host of live vocalists and musicians, and some very special guests.

Alongside the track list of 24 years of Gatecrasher, curated by Gatecrasher's very own Scott Bond, the event will feature some of the biggest tracks of all time, which have become emblazoned in the hearts and souls of clubbers worldwide, and will be immortalized by the 40 Piece Gatecrasher Orchestra. Expect lots of hands in the air moments and one unforgettable experience.

Full show details will be announced soon.

DEATHS

LLOYD MARION (THELMA)

My Mother's Hands

Hands that rocked
the cradle.
From the moment
of my birth,
Their tender touch
remembered
by those still here on Earth.
Soft as silk
those hands,
That taught me
how to pray,
Banishing childhood
fears,
They soothed each one away.
When I grew much older
And troubles came my way,
Those hands
caressing mine,
Did more than words could say.
Mother's hands
were gentle.
They're missed
so very much,
I'd give the world to feel once more
Their warm and tender touch. Those hands were full of comfort
Now they lie at rest,
But memories hold them close
To the ones they served the best.
Good night, God bless
Mum, your loving Daughter Janet

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

GILMOUR RONNIE

Thank you so much to all family, friends and neighbours who rallied round when they were needed, for the numerous sympathy cards, mass cards and letters, and all donations to Dementia UK during the recent loss of a wonderful and very much loved Husband, Father and Grandfather. Thank you to Father Des Seddon and all those involved in a funeral service which did him proud. Thank you to Devonport Funeral Services who did a great job with the arrangements and extra special thanks to all the staff at Care Concern NW who looked after Ronnie in his final month with such kindness and compassion. We will always be grateful.

FAWBERT JOAN

The family of the late Joan Fawbert wish to express their heartfelt thanks to relatives, friends and neighbours for their kindness, sympathy, cards and donations to Queenscourt Hospice. Special thanks to Doctor Bennett for his care and attention. Also thank you to all the team at Ainsdale Medical Centre, the Palliative Care Team at Queenscourt and Reverend Roy Doran for a comforting service, kindness and help to the family.

EXPERIENCED CARERS REQUIRED: Formby area

Are you compassionate, self-motivated and enthusiastic? Do you have an experience in care and rehabilitation? If so, you should consider applying for the position of carer for an adult male client with an Acquired Brain Injury and physical disabilities. Our client is PEG fed and has a tracheostomy, so experience working with similar clients is essential.

We are looking to recruit a team of carers to assist our client to live a productive, stimulating, and goal-orientated lifestyle. Our client is currently based in a Rehabilitation centre in Southport. However, there are plans for him to move into his own property in Formby. Initially, we are looking to identify a team of carers to work with our client in a residential setting. Following a period of transition and bespoke training this care and support will be transferred to our client in his own home.

We are looking for full-time (36 hours per week), part-time (24 hours per week) with flexibility to cover holidays and sickness.

- £11.00 per hour weekdays
- £12.00 weekends
- Full UK Driving Licence is essential
- Full training is provided
- Position subject to DBS Enhanced Disclosure

Interview dates: TBC

Closing date: 09/05/2018

Please contact 0161 763 4734 and quote Ref: JC/LKH0318 to request an application pack.

A PAL of mine is currently perusing the classifieds for a Peugeot 406 Coupé. Hopefully, by the time you read this, he'll be the proud owner of one of these gorgeous Gallic two-doors.

Apparently Ford's Cougar, Vauxhall's Calibra, the Mercedes-Benz CLK and Volvo's C70, which all convey four adults with a reasonable amount of shove in the same sort of two-door package, didn't even make it onto the shopping list, because there's one thing that even today sets a 406 Coupé apart. It's the same thing that makes you lust after a Ferrari 458 Italia and why the Alfa Romeo 164 was always such a head-turner. It's also what makes my MGB GT so well proportioned.

It is – and petrolhead bonus points if you've already guessed it – having Italian design house Pininfarina sprinkle its magic on the cosmetics. Think of it as a sort of automotive Armani, turning the humdrum into handsome and making things of downright desirability when given a free hand. It's even had a hand in building cars, including Ford's StreetKa, but thanks to a tie-up with an Indian conglomerate it now wants to be a carmaker in its own right.

The business side of it makes sense. Mahindra is a big player in motoring but in the UK it's best known for its dreadful Jeep knock-offs – it has the money to take part in the increasingly lucrative market here in Europe for luxury offerings, but not the street cred. Citroen, for instance, has decided to take on BMW and Mercedes by creating its DS sub-brand, whereas Chinese conglomerate Geely have gone for the Blue Peter 'Here's one we made earlier' approach by snapping up Volvo and Lotus. But launching a brand with a name already associated with Ferrari's better-looking offerings is bordering on genius. All it has to do now is the opposite of what most glitzy product launches manage. Make sure it has the style to match the substance.

Automobili Pininfarina hasn't put out any pictures of what its new car looks like yet but if it's anything other than jaw-droppingly amazing I'll be disappointed. This is the name that not only turned the repmobile Peugeot 406 into one of the best-looking cars of the Nineties, but it's also behind the Ferrari Daytona, Testarossa and F355, the Lancia Montecarlo, the Fiat Dino, the Alfa Romeo GTV and the Jaguar XJ6 Series III. With a blank slate and Mahindra's money behind it, Pininfarina's first production car really ought to be so pretty that you leave it your phone number rather than drive it.

If it pulls that off than it might just pull you away from the pile of brochures you have for the C-Class, 3-Series and A4. Or you could save yourself about 20 grand and get the same sort of visual sparkle from a 406 Coupé. See, we're full of useful consumer tips at The Champion…

Skem pay for slow start after fight back is too late

Skelmersdale 2

SKELMERSDALE fought back from going three goals down but couldn't find an equaliser, writes Neil Leatherbarrow.

Skelmersdale United slipped to only their second defeat in eight matches at home to "The Bloods" on Monday night, despite having much of the possession and a lot of chances.

After Saturday's excellent performance at promotion chasing Hyde expectation was fairly high from Skem, but their cause wasn't helped when they conceded two goals in the opening 17 minutes.

The first goal came in the 11th minute with an owl goal from Jack Leneham after a bad bounce of the ball saw it ricochet off his leg and into the net.

It got very difficult for Skelmersdale in the 17th minute. A tidy build-up down the Droylsden right put the ball to Dominic Smith's feet about 20 yards from goal.

In one movement he swung his right boot sending the ball looping over Roberts into the top corner, a spectacular strike that was unexpected by all present, but it was 2-0 to Droylsden.

The nearest Skelmersdale came to pulling a goal back was when Scott Bakkor was put into the clear on 40 minutes, however keeper Branagan left his line and blocked Bakkor's shot with his legs.

In the 67th minute and Droylsden went 3-0 up. Former Burscough player Liam Caddick beat the Skelmersdale offside trap and was clean in on goal. He ran on for 20 yards then dinked a little chip over advancing keeper Roberts.

Skem pulled a goal back on 84 minutes when Josh Wardle headed home at the far post from a Beven Burey cross from the left.

In the 89th minute Lenehan got forward and scored his first goal for the club, cleverly beating two men before poking a shot from 20 yards low into the bottom corner.

The crowd got behind Dave Powell's team and they swarmed forward, but it was not to be. The crowd got behind Dave Powell's team and they swarmed forward, but it not to be and Droylsden held on.

It was a slow start and poor finishing that were the main reason for the result. Droylsden had taken their chances better in front of goal.

Skem slip to second from bottom in the table

Dogged display earns unlikely away point

Hyde United 0
Skelmersdale United 0

SKELMERSDALE produced a brilliant performance to earn an unlikely point against second-placed Hyde United last Saturday.

In the 27th minute Roberts pulled off a magnificent double reaction save from a point blank header by Hyde captain Paddy Miller, the second blocking the follow up.

After the break for 20 minutes or so Hyde put the pressure on again. It wasn't completely one way, Skelmersdale were still posing enough of a threat in attack to stop Hyde from over committing players up front, Bakkor, Darr and Bevan Burey particularly showing well. On 87 minutes Hyde got another great chance, but Jack Fleming miraculously got back to clear off the line and they held on for a point.

Meanwhile, Skelmersdale United need a point in the league to guarantee avoiding relegation with three games remaining.

Dave Powell's team are nine points clear of bottom placed AFC Goole and both have three games to play, but Skem have a superior goal difference, so they look to be safe.

Skelmersdale's last three games begin with a home game against South Shields this Saturday before they host Bamber Bridge on Tuesday, April 24. Their final game of the season is at Clitheroe on Saturday, April 28.

Linnets fight for goalless draw to set up crunch cup semi-final second leg

IT is a big day at Burscough's Victoria Park on Saturday as the Linnets go into the second leg of their Macron Cup (North-West Counties League Cup) semi-final on level terms with opponents Irlam after a 0-0 draw in the away leg last Saturday.

Manager Dave Sutton said: "It was a great result to get 0-0, we are in with a great chance of reaching the final.

"We played well on the day and maybe should have won, but it is effectively only half-time at the moment.

"Let's say we have the psychological advantage of being at home, but it is now a straight up semi-final when winners take all, so it won't be easy. We need everyone to get behind the lads on the day, let's all enjoy it."

It is a crunch time for Sutton's Linnets on all fronts at the moment. They are due to host Ashton Athletic tomorrow (Thursday, April 19) which will certainly be no warm up for the semi-final.

Burscough need to pick up as many points as possible and it could be said that the next ten days will define their whole season.

They travel to play away at Ashton Athletic on Tuesday, April 24, then they play hosts to Abbey Hey on Saturday, April 28.

Sutton added: "They are a great group of lads who are willing to fight for each other, we go into three weeks in which every game is a cup final, they will give their best.

"It is important for them that we stay up because we now have the backbone of a good team, the form we have shown since October has been that of a team in a lot higher position in the table, if we stay together, I can see us challenging next season."

Ormskirk out to defend title as cricket season gets underway

THE 2018 Liverpool & District Cricket Competition gets underway this weekend, weather permitting, with a whole host of local clubs set for a return to action.

Several clubs have been busy over the winter months recruiting new players, Premier Division champions Ormskirk will be captained by Nicky Caunce who replaces Matty Glayzer, all rounder Ryan Maddock has joined from Lytham, top order batsman Luke Platt has joined from Longridge, Josh Thompson from Northern and Andy Gill from Bootle, whilst Michael Jones has signed for Durham and Simon Kerrigan has returned to Fulwood & Broughton in Preston.

Maghull skipper Paul Walters almost led his side to promotion last season and will be hoping to go one better this time round.

However he's lost the services of Liam Crilly who's joined Irby and Zimbabwean paceman William Mashinge who's joined Leamington, whilst after a winter down under Macauley Lawrenson has opted to remain in Melbourne for the foreseeable future, the club have signed Australian all rounder Josh Mahoney from Laharum CC in Western Victoria and hope that Walters, Jon Ring, Greg Gillespie, Anthony Molloy and Cameron Lawrenson can help form the backbone of another promotion push.

Burscough have signed Australian Jonathon Curtis who has recently had spells at both Fleetwood Hesketh and Ormskirk, whilst last season's overseas player Ben Van Niekerk has not been retained.

On a sad note skipper Jon Stones has lost two top players in Rob Glaysher and Michael Bimpson, opening bowler Glaysher has moved down south and Bimpson has retired and hung up his gloves after a quality career behind the stumps and numerous runs with the bat, keeping duties have been passed on to the experienced Alan Murray.

The delayed 2017 Ray Digman Trophy semi final between Bottle and Ormskirk fell victim of the weather last Saturday, so a bowl out took place with Bootle winning 3-0 thanks to skipper Craig Prince (2) and Scott Butterworth (1), they will now host Northern in the final at Wadham Road on Sunday, April 29 at 1pm.

This weekend's local LDCC fixtures (1pm start) are Leigh v Formby, Northern v New Brighton, Ormskirk v Colwyn Bay, Rainford v Bootle, Ainsdale v Liverpool, Burscough v Birkenhead Park, Fleetwood Hesketh v Sefton Park, Wigan v Southport & Birkdale, Hightown St Mary's v Northop Hall, Maghull v Sutton and Spring View v Southport Trinity.
